Spokane, Washington
Student Program Day
April 22-23, 2009

*Would you like a career that offers never-ending opportunities,
a quality lifestyle, and great pay in a growing industry?*

If this sounds like something for you,
apply now to attend an all-expenses paid student program at an renowned industry conference and tradeshow in Washington State.

Northwest Public Power Association (NWPPA) and its 160 utilities and 280 industry suppliers are inviting undergraduate students to join them at their upcoming NWPPA Engineering & Operations Conference and Tradeshow in Spokane, Wash., on April 23, 2009. This is the largest regional public power event of its kind where you can take a closer look at the public power electric utility industry from the inside and talk with recent graduates and others working in the industry.

Key highlights include an exclusive dinner with NWPPA leadership; breakfast orientation meeting; keynote speaker Jason Young talking about his book, "Culturetopia;" industry mentors to answer your questions through the day as you attend industry-specific sessions and visit the exhibit hall; the Chairman's Reception; and the closing conference banquet with dinner, presentation of industry awards, and entertainment.. For the agenda of the student program and application materials, visit http://www.nwppa.org/web/09EandOstudent\_program.shtml.

If you are interested in a career in electrical, mechanical, civil, environmental, or other engineering fields, then don't miss this once-a-year opportunity to take a close look at the growing and challenging public power industry. For information on the many career options in public power, go to:
